Schindler

We Elevate... Traffic

We provide the means to move people to, from and through public transport systems worldwide – including airports, subways, main railway stations and more. With over 140 years of experience, we know how to design and precision-engineer our public transport elevators, escalators and moving walks to meet all specific needs.

Adding personal comfort to public transport

With our mobility solutions, your facility runs like a Swiss watch. Our precision engineering helps millions of people to get there quickly, reliably and safely.

Managing mobility. At crowded public transport locations, people need to get from point A to B. It has to be a convenient experience – with few lines and short waiting times. To us, convenience also means reliable elevators, escalators and moving walks that are optimally located. They should be large enough to handle capacity and easy enough to operate for the disabled and passengers in a full car.

Fast response. With us as your partner, you can ensure public spaces stay mobile at all times. Our products are especially durable and reliable, and can be connected to your building management systems. We know how our escalators and elevators are used. We have just the right modernization solution and service package to keep them running over the long term including fast response and spare-parts delivery.

Perfect fit. We support you to find the right mobility solution for your public transport facility, airport or railway station. In the cabins of our large elevators, you can place the control panel almost anywhere you want. You can even have multiple control panels. We offer keyless options for your cleaning team. Our access control system lets you keep operating logistics efficiently in the background. Once you find the perfect fit, we can also assist you with fast installation.

Tailored efficiency. Schindler can tailor a mobility solution to your needs. If sustainability is your priority, we can tailor accordingly. Our energy-efficient products with regenerative drives can put energy back into your building's electrical grid to power other elevators or building systems. Our escalators also have eco-modes that lower operating costs.

Seamless mobility. We offer full traffic simulations and support with planning.

Efficient operation. Regenerative and LED technology for low energy consumption.

Reliability & Service. 24/7 service availability and fast spare parts supply, plus remote monitoring options to prevent disruptions. A dense network of service stations and certified technicians in over 1000 branches, worldwide.

Security. Access and destination control options for restricted areas.

Public information. Infotainment systems inside the car for user information.

Tailored products. Elevators and escalators engineered for durability and high-volume traffic, plus multiple control options.

Variable selection. Passenger, freight and service elevators for all purposes in public and non-public areas.

Indoor or outdoor. Elevators and escalators for indoor and outdoor application, and with special bump-resistant doors.

Worry-free modernization. From complete replacements with minimal building adaptation to tailored phased modernization, we ensure maximum traffic capacity with minimum disturbance during modernization work.
